

J. Stephen Mikita has been a Utah Assistant Attorney General for 29 years. He represents the three largest State Agencies in Utah providing services and protections for individuals with disabilities, as well as vulnerable adults.

Mr. Mikita was the first wheelchair freshman in the history of Duke University, where he graduated magna cum laude and the first student in a wheelchair ever to be admitted at Brigham Young University's Law School.

Born with Spinal Muscular Atrophy, a progressive nerve disorder, that has ravaged his body for 55 years, Mikita's indomitable spirit and plainspoken wisdom have touched millions of Americans. He is a popular motivational speaker throughout the country.
