Originally born and raised in Brooklyn, New York, Tracey M. Watson in 1989 traded the 'hood' (high rises, subways, and bumper-to-bumper traffic) for the mountains. A 2003 graduate of the S.J. Quinney College of Law at the University of Utah, Tracey enjoyed a rather circuitous path to her practice of law, including professional experience in higher education administration and teaching, vocational school admissions, restaurant management and coaching intercollegiate women's basketball. Tracey commenced her legal practice as a member of Clawson & Falk, LLC and after three years in January 2007 Tracey opened her solo practice and now enjoys an office sharing arrangement with a few distinctly wonderful and brilliant attorneys: Dave Halliday, Louise Knauer, Nancy Snow Bockelie, Suzanne Marelius and Lauren Barros. Tracey focuses her practice on family law including primarily divorce, custody, parent-time, post divorce modifications and partnership dissolution; and employment law including primarily pre-litigation disputes and resolutions. Tracey also earned an MS in Exercise and Sport Science from the University of Utah in 1991 and a BA in Sociology from Skidmore College in 1986. In 2005, Tracey was named to the Utah Business Legal Elite in the area of employment law. Tracey also serves on the Board of Utah Legal Services and as an associate member of the David K. Watkiss – Sutherland II, Inns of Court; S. J. Quinney Young Alumni Association; Pro Bono attorney volunteer and as an adjunct faculty member for the University of Utah College of Health. Tracey is a member of the Women Lawyers of Utah and previously served on their Board from 2003 through 2006.
